PREAMBLE :

The globalization and drive to competitiveness is making the educational institutions to focus on their core professional competencies and academic interaction with the Universities and other educational institutional authorities and such government bodies for development of specialized talented and skilled technical students. Though the importance of technical education is unquestionable, fostering a carrier today in technical field requires more than just formal education or such academic qualification.

Therefore, the NIELIT has decided to introduce and implement such technical long term courses which would not only provide the technical skill and ability but also bridge the gap between the academic and industry requirement by providing industry specific quality education / training at an affordable cost, thereby updating and generating quality manpower and skilled professionals in IECT and allied fields according to the needs of the industry.

AIMS & OBJECTIVES:

The IGNTU and NIELIT foresee that there is a vast scope of upcoming technical innovations as there is continuous progress in industrial and other allied sectors. Both parties agree to strive hard to provide all possible technical support to these sectors for upliftment of the IECT related activities of the region/country.
